Circuit Clerks Records Are Probed By Mr. McKenzie
Todd.

Attorney General Orders Prosecution.

WIL GO BEFORE GRAND JURY.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—A report filed with the governor by Inspector Todd after an examination of the records of the circuit clerk's office in Henderson county, charges in connection with alleged padding of witness and jury claims. It was referred to the attorney general, who has decided that action must be taken in Henderson county and has sent a copy of the charges to the commonwealth's attorney with instructions to begin proceedings before the grand jury. The inspector in his report claims the circuit clerk was constantly put down in the reports as being a witness in several cases and amounts paid jurors were padded.

Picture Machine Explodes.
Pittsburgh, Dec. 19.—Among the Christmas presents George W. Curran bought for his boy was a moving picture machine. The youth apparently got a clue, and when the family were upstairs he found the machine. Turning out the lights he lit the machine and was soon casting pictures on the wall. An explosion followed. When the family entered the room they found the machine, carpet and furniture ablaze. The boy was unhurt. The fire was quickly extinguished.

DR. PURCELL IS NOT DEAD; IT'S THE CAT.

It wasn't Dr. Purcell; it was the cat that dropped dead.

Dr. Purcell is alive and his brother-in-law C. C. Grassham, has recovered his breath, though he has been kept quite busy all day answering telephone calls about Dr. Purcell's conditions.

It seems that Dr. Purcell's daughter calls him "pap" for her familiar name, and her cat died, which caused her great grief. She called up her uncle's home and between sobs related to the family the sad news. Naturally, "cat" sounds like "pap," when the one saying it over the telephone is very young and prevented from ordinarily clear articulation by emotion. Indeed, the emotion itself seemed more apropos of the demise of "pap" than "cat." Consequently, Mr. Grassham was dispatched posthaste to offer his services; and the news spread along Broadway in that magic way bad news has to disseminating itself.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The election for the adoption or rejection of the constitution of Arizona probably will be held by January 15, 1911, and it adopted the constitution may be in the hands of the president and of congress for their approval before the end of the present congress, according to the annual report of Richard E. Sloan, territorial governor of Arizona, made public by the department of the interior today.

NOT A NICKEL; NOT EVEN A SCENT LEFT IN MACHINE

Thieves visited the Newport billiard parlors and soda fountain at 523 Broadway Saturday night and robbed the chewing gum slot machine of about $20 in nickels. The robbery was discovered Sunday morning by Edgar Lyle, the proprietor, who found the rear door had been forced open and the slot machine lying in the back lot. He notified Chief of Police Singery and City Jailor Clark was hurried to the scene with "Lady Carter" and "Iva May," the police bloodhounds, who refused to have anything to do with chasing down the criminal. They were taken to the wrecked slot machine in the rear but failed to get the scent. Nothing else was missed from the parlors.

Eleven-Year-Old Good Fellow is Interested

One small boy in Paducah had three dollars and a half left, after completing his Christmas purchases. That in itself would be almost wonderful enough to relate; but instead of putting it in a bank as such thrift would lead one to expect, he showed it to his mother, and said:
"Mother I want to be a Good Fellow. May I?"
The mother knew what he meant. "Certainly," she replied.
"Well, how can I?"
"We'll go down to The Sun office and find out," said the wise mother.

GOOD FELLOWS are requested to fill out the following blank and mail it to The Evening Sun or the PHILANTHROPIC DEPARTMENT of the Woman's club, 214 South Seventh street.
I will be Santa Claus to _____ children.
I will deliver the presents to "my children" myself.
or
I will want the department to deliver the presents to "my children."

(Be sure to designate whether you will deliver the presents yourself.)

Almost Score Are Slaughtered by Explosion In New York Central's Plant, New York City, Early Today

Nine Known to be Dead and Many More Are Wounded and Missing ---Cause Suppose Dynamite.

New York, Dec. 19.—Nine persons are dead, eight are missing and believed to be dead, and a score of others are injured as the result of an explosion this morning that wrecked the milk depot and property shop of the New York Central railroad at Forty-ninth street and Lexington avenue. The power house of the New Haven railroad, adjacent to the depot, was almost completely destroyed by the force of the explosion. Officials have not yet determined the cause, although they believe a quantity of acetylene gas or dynamite exploded.

It is reported that switchmen running a car loaded with dynamite to the excavations of the New York terminals lost control of the car and the car struck a track bumper.

Fifty injured were taken to hospitals, ten of whom will die. Police this afternoon agree that the explosion was caused by a spark from a third rail, which ignited a car load of acetylene carbide at the milk depot. This explosion ignited a car load of dynamite. A street car passing the depot was thrown from the tracks and landed on an automobile. Two street car passengers and one occupant of the motor car were killed.

COL. Q. Q. QUIGLEY DEAN OF PADUCAH BAR PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Corporation Counsel and Was Head of His Profession.

Retired From Active Practice
Several Years.

SURVIVED BY HIS COMPANION.

Colonel Quintus Q. Quigley, one of Paducah's oldest residents and heads of prominent families, died at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Langstaff, 800 Broadway, from the effects of a congestive chill, which he suffered at 9:30 a. m. He was 82 years old and was a very distinguished man. He was one of the incorporators of Paducah in 1858, composing the board of trustees. He introduced the original public wharfage ordinance and was assisted by H. Clay King in drafting a bill incorporating the city. He was the first city attorney of Paducah, having entered the race only at the solicitation of his friends. This was the only public office he ever held.

Colonel Quigley had been in good health up to three weeks ago when he became ill. His death was a shock to his family as well as his many friends. He had resided in Arcadia for years, but moved to the home of Mrs. Langstaff to spend the winter. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Quigley; one daughter, Mrs. Langstaff, and one son, Mr. Bruce Quigley, of McAllister, Okla. He leaves several grandchildren, among whom are Mrs. Langstaff's children and Thomas and Catherine Quigley, of Vicksburg, Miss.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Mr. Quigley was a lawyer of decided ability and stood at the head of not only the Paducah bar in his day, but in western Kentucky. He was born July 17, 1828, at Paris, Tenn., and was the son of James B. Quigley and Martha (Ogburn) Quigley. The father was a native of Pennsylvania and the mother of Virginia. His parents settled in early life in Tennessee, but after a brief residence removed to Hickman county, Ky., in 1828. Mr. Quigley was the second of eight children and was educated at the Cumberland college and began the study of law at the age of 19 under Judge J. W. Crockett. He was regularly admitted to practice in 1851 and at once opened an office in Paducah where he was one of the oldest and ablest lawyers.

In 1853 he was married to Miss Mary E. Husbands, daughter of Col. James B. Husbands.

The law firm of Quigley & Quigley was counsel for the Illinois Central railroad for years. He was an ardent admirer of the beauties of nature and in order to gratify this commendable trait he resided in his quiet country home in Arcadia with his family. He was a member of the Episcopal church and of the Masonic lodge. He had avoided public life as much as possible.

Salvation Army Head Wishes Car-

London, Dec. 19.--"What would I not give for $2,000,000 to help us win true peace," exclaimed General Booth, of the Salvation Army, in an interview today concerning the $10-000,000 given by Carnegie to the world's peace movement. "I only wish Carnegie would give me a chance before I die." Booth's face lighted at the idea of the use he could make of the great sum towards 'peace' in the centers of London and New York. "Whether the low est and humblest might be brought in thousands to learn the lesson of forgetfulness of self."

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue.
Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using sage in this preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, and a valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by W
F. Gilbert.

News of Theatres

Something for All.

There is something in the Flint entertainment for every one to enjoy. From scientific lecture to hilarious climax, there is an appeal to all classes and conditions and from the oldest to the youngest, the wisest to the most foolish, all find something to please their own particular tastes.
There is scientific truth and there is uproarious fun. There is no plot to follow, and although the great underlying truth of hypnotism is a perpetual mystery, the child who understands nothing of these things can sit and laugh at the funny antics. There is singing and dancing and talking and rough-and-tumble antics, at the same time that there are thrilling demonstrations and the philosophic observations. People go to enjoy the scientific lecture and find themselves laughing harder than they have ever laughed in their lives at the funny antics of the subjects, and people go to laugh and find themselves becoming interested in the scientific aspects even to the point of going out to become students of psychology. It is this wide diversity that has given the Flint entertainments the popularity that they enjoy, and that packs the theatres to the doors wherever they appear. Flint will be here all next week at the Kentucky.

AT THE STAR.

The bill of the first three days of the week at The Star Theatre promises to be another good one. Wurnnelle and Nelson are two artists with a feature act in a class by itself.
Arnold Wurnnelle introduces in the act his acrobatic barrel jumping and buck dance on roller skates, doing more difficult feats than others do without them.

Miss Julie Nelson, Norway's foremost violin virtuoso, is the other artist of the act. Miss Nelson besides playing some high class selections also does acrobatic barrel jumping while playing the violin.

Jack Davis and Cora Merrill, a pair of unique entertainers, so styled from their novel singing and talking act, will also appear at the Star the first three days of this week, and if reports of this team are true,
they must be far above the average.
Mr. Davis introduces character work, which is said to be masterful and his clever partner is a yodler of rare ability. Their talking material is up-to-the-minute.

O. T. Phillips will sing a new illustrated song and two reels of new motion pictures will also be given. Admission 10c, children 5c.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 10.

Daily Thought.

Genius is always impatient of its harness. Its wild blood makes it hard to train.—Holmes.

Buy Red Cross Seals.

Fair weather predicted for Christmas.

Even the bloodhounds couldn't get a scent out of a slot machine after it had been robbed.

Then here comes a clean mouth crusade. Remember how mother used to wash it out with soap?

The Owensboro Inquirer published a 50 page edition Sunday that had the true metropolitan air to it.

Tennessee sheriffs are busily engaged, enforcing the four mile law against dispensers of "forty-rod" liquor.

The "shop early" idea is receiving the belated endorsement of a number of people, who didn't think seriously about it at the time.

An aviator at Memphis went up 9,364 feet, where his motor froze over and he was forced to glide back. That's an advantage the aviator has over the automobilist. He never has to walk back.

We thought President Taft would follow our sensible suggestion: that we must fortify the Panama canal in order that we may be able to fulfill our obligation to keep the canal open to the commerce of the world at all times, and that we may strengthen our coast defense without hysteria.

The Cincinnati health officer asserts that fully one-fourth the people in the hospitals of that city are there "through sickness acquired by kissing." Some healthy spouses, whose mates are in the pay wards, may be moved to suspicion by this unguarded official utterance.

The wife of the Austrian ambassador, dean of the diplomatic corps, declares that Washington society is stupid, and New York society in the only real swells the United States possesses. Like most criticisms, that expression gives us an excellent and illuminating idea of the tastes and character of the critic.

After their campaign denunciation of the Payne tariff and their intention to reduce it all at once, the new majority of the lower house of congress, through their leaders now propose to revise the tariff one schedule at a time, as recommended by President Taft, and they will have the recommendation of his tariff commission to act upon. Moreover, not a word is uttered about free trade or tariff for revenue only; and it is safe to say that the Democratic lower house will try its hand at a protective tariff bill. Champ Clark is even advocating "a sliding scale, so as not to hurt business!"

The governor-elect of Oklahoma is what they call a "squaw man" in the west. He married a squaw, who received an immense acreage of valuable land upon the division of tribal possessions. In the west they look down upon a man who does that, attributing to him the most sordid of motives. Yet, the "squaw man," we presume, lowers himself by the match, no more than the foreign nobleman—God save the market!—thinks he does, when he marries the daughter of a rich American.

THE REMEDY FOR CONTEMPT.

A Hoosier lawyer, of the name of Charles A. Jewett, of New Albany, will present a bill in the Indiana legislature for the reform of criminal procedure, that will make an excellent initiatory step toward increasing the dignity of our system of justice, thereby begetting respect for our courts among the criminally inclined classes. One of the most ridiculous of our half-splittings based upon the theory that every possible sort of convenience should be extended to a man whose life or liberty is put in jeopardy, is that which compels the strictest conformity to details in writing an indictment. Now, when a man is formally accused of a crime, all that justice requires is that he be identified sufficiently well to guard against mistake and that the accusation be sufficiently set forth to put him upon complete notice of the offense of which he is accused. In making these conditions effective courts, of course, have elaborated

THE REALITY OF SANTA CLAUS.

There is a Santa Claus, and to everyone, who, insofar as he is able and it lies within his opportunity, endeavors to make him real. Santa Claus exists.

But to that parent, who deceives his offspring with the myth that Santa Claus carries gifts to every child, rich or poor, and then makes no effort to impute reality to his own assertion, Santa Claus remains a myth, to be dispelled by and by, revealing to the child the pitiable mockery of humanity it contains.

See how one imposition compels another. The parent tells his child that every little one receives what he most desires at Christmas. This is necessary to insure the enjoyment of the season unalloyed with the thought of suffering. We must shut out unpleasant ideas as well as sights and sounds from our heaven. But inevitably the child will learn of other children, who need things most and do not receive what they most desire, and of still others, to whom Christmas brings no gifts at all. The parent then must compose another falsehood, or utterly destroy the benevolent character of the children's saint. But it is useless; before the child has long been in school he learns that there is no Santa Claus and after that Christmas is never Christmas any more.

This deception and inevitable exposure are not necessary. We don't need to abuse the confidence of children to make them happy. We can make them happier by telling them the truth—not by destroying Santa Claus, but by making him real; for this is the beauty of eternal truth, that garb your ideal in whatever fanciful dress your whim suggests, and call it by what name you choose, if to your utmost capacity you endeavor to make that ideal the living, practical truth, as far as you are concerned, it is the truth.

Here is the secret of some people's power. What to you and to me is false and absurd, to them is reality and truth, because they make it so. Santa Claus is but the personification of the spirit of the Yuletide; which has been adopted into the Christian calendar as the birthday of the Christ—the spirit of self-forgetfulness and self-sacrifice that others may be made happy.

Thus, some people may say there is a Santa Claus and say it with absolute sincerity; because when they tell their children the dear old saint from the North Pole brings gifts for every one—rich and poor, what they most desire—they make the story true so far as they are concerned. Come, why not test the secret of the mystic's power, by playing Santa Claus to some poor child this Christmas?

Do this, and when your own children reach the age, where experience begins to dispel the literal illusions of childhood, they will recognize in your life the eternal truth that formerly masqueraded as the genial Santa Claus, and you will be to them the possessor of a priceless ideal, they may inherit, instead of the bankrupt purveyor of a tale, meaningless in your mouth, who didn't invent it—a grand ideal, gorgeously garbed, that somehow has got lost in a selfish world.

upon them as applied to specific cases, and criminal lawyers have enjoyed great advantages over justice in these instances. Jewett proposes this amendment to the law as it stands, also affecting the taking of depositions in criminal cases:

"No indictment or information shall be quashed or held insufficient if it contains sufficient matter to inform the defendant of the crime with which he is charged."

"Any indictment or information may be amended at any time before or at the trial, provided such amendment does not change the character of the offense with which the defendant was intended to be charged."

"On a second or subsequent trial of a criminal charged the testimony of any witness who testified on the former trial and has since died or is beyond the process of the court may be given in evidence by either the state or the defendant."

"Depositions may be taken and used in a criminal trial in any case where depositions may be used in a civil action, if the defendant has an opportunity to attend the taking and cross-examine the witness."

"No trial shall be postponed on account of an absent witness if the state will admit that the absent witness would, if present, testify as stated in the affidavit for continuance."

These amendments have the endorsement of the American Bar association.

President Taft has set the United States supreme court to work, reforming equity procedure to make it quicker, more responsive to justice and cheaper, and urges the complete revision of the United States code of procedure in all court functions with the same objects in view. Criminal lawyers—sometimes the adjective is a literally descriptive—have spiked the mills of justice, gummed the machinery and cut the belts, until the criminal is inclined to believe:

The mills of God grind slowly. And sometimes don't grind at all.

CHURCH SERVICES YESTERDAY.

Louisville papers intimate that Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church, may be called to the pulpit of the Twenty-second and Walnut Street Baptist church, Louisville, one of the biggest churches of the denomination in Kentucky. He preached there yesterday.

Broadway Methodist.

The services at Broadway Methodist church were well attended yesterday morning and evening. The Rev. G. T. Sullivan preached two helpful sermons. In the morning his theme was "Man's Highest Aspirations," and the text was "Create in Me a Clean Heart." Mrs. Edgar Lyle sang the offertory. In the evening the theme was "The Church and Labor." The text was "Is Not this the Carpenter's Son?" The argument was based upon the occupation of Jesus as a man, and clearly settled the question of the relation the church holds to labor. It showed that the church must be, and is, in touch with the working man by virtue of man's continued occupation, a laborer; that the interest is in common; that the church is foster-mother of all; that the supreme object of labor compels it; that the profound sympathetic relation grows out of the attitude of Christ to labor. There were three additions to the membership at the morning service. Special Christmas sermon next Sunday, and a splendid program of music will be rendered by the choir.

To Elect New Treasurer.

The Rev. G. T. Sullivan, chairman of the board of extension, Memphis Methodist conference, went to Jackson, Tenn., today to attend a meeting of the board to elect a successor to the late H. W. Elder, who died from an illness incurred at the conference here.

Finishing Good Shepherd House.

The interior finishing of the Good Shepherd House, Arcadia, is nearly completed, owing to the efforts of the Wallace park Athletic club. In recognition of their service the house will be at their disposal, especially on Tuesday night, December 27, when they will give a reception to club members and invited guests.

Members and friends of Good Shepherd House will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to rehearse the Christmas music. It is hoped that the new organ will be tuned by that time.

South Side Services.

Good services were held at the Third Street Methodist church yesterday. The Rev. J. B. Pearson preached on the subject of "The Church" last night.

Five Additions.

Yesterday was the banner day at the Fountain Avenue Methodist church. Five additions were received into the church. Last evening the Rev. Paul B. Jefferson preached on the subject of "Some Lessons From the Anointment By Mary." There will be special Christmas services next Sunday morning.

First Baptist.

The Rev. J. H. Anderson, of Clinton, filled the pulpit at the First Baptist church both yesterday morning and evening in the absence of the Rev. M. E. Dodd, who preached at the Twenty-second and Walnut street Baptist church in Louisville. He will return home this evening.

Kentucky Avenue.

Large congregations attended the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning and evening.

Christmas at St. Francis de Sales.

At the St. Francis de Sales Catholic church next Sunday the first mass will be held at 6:30 a. m., the second at 8 a. m. and last mass at 10:30 a. m. There will be a special service arranged for the evening.

Holy Name Society.

The Holy Name society, Junior branch, of the St. Francis de Sales Catholic church, met yesterday afternoon and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Spiritual director, the Rev. Father H. A. Connolly; president, Henry Singery; vice-president, Emmett Hannan; secretary, Howard McCann; treasurer, Herman Voor; prefects, Lester Bequette, Frank E. Lally, Burchial Kelle, Conroy Dorian, Henry Budde and Herman Yopp.

First Christian.

"Duties of Church Members" was the Rev. W. A. Fite's subject yesterday morning at the First Christian church. He said that one of the main duties was to attend church. Mrs. W. C. Gray sang a beautiful solo while at the evening service the choir sang a sweet an-

QUIT CALOMEL!

THOUSANDS ARE TURNING FROM THIS DANGEROUS DRUG.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Portsmouth, Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, including olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers. His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

The results of 15 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

All druggists sell them in neat vest pocket sizes at 10c and 25c.

them. The Rev. Mr. Fite preached on the subject of "The Conversion of Saul." Wednesday evening at the prayer services Dr. Fite will tell of "The Early Ministry of Paul."

German Lutheran.

German services were held at the German Lutheran church yesterday morning by the Rev. William Grother, who preached at St. Matthew's church, in the county, in the afternoon. Last evening English services were held and the Rev. Mr. Grother preached on the subject of "The Confession of John."

North Twelfth.

There were two additions to the North Twelfth Street Baptist church yesterday. Yesterday morning the Rev. J. R. Clark preached on the subject of "The Resurrection of Christ." Last night he preached on the subject of "The Preparation of Victory."

First Presbyterian.

Dr. H. W. Burwell preached a strong sermon on "Power" at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, showing by argument and illustration that man without the applied power of the Holy Spirit is an inefficient instrument. The Men's Bible class was reorganized for the winter's work and it is expected that an aggressive campaign for membership will be inaugurated. Meetings began at Hebrew mission, Rowlandtown, last night and will continue each night through the week. A memorial service was held at Mizpah mission yesterday afternoon. The Covenanters met yesterday afternoon with increased membership.

The Home Mission society of the Third Street Methodist church is meeting this afternoon at the church.

STARBOARD GUNS

FIRE BROADSIDE AS RHODES "HOVE TO."

Two Missiles Crossed His Bows, But Belligerent Hack Sailed Away.

The reception that Capt. Lee Rhodes, chief clerk of the steamer Dick Fowler, received early Sunday morning when he was about to become a passenger in a cab was so warm that he was dumfounded for several seconds. What are supposed to have been "joy riders" took two shots at the well known navigator within half a block of the city hall and after he recovered use of his legs he went home hurriedly without bothering about a cab.

Captain Rhodes left the Fowler late Saturday night when she returned from Cairo and walked to Fourth street and Broadway in search of a conveyance. None was in sight and he walked to Fourth street and Kentucky avenue, where a cab had just halted near the side entrance to the Tulley delivery stables, opposite the city hall. The "starboard" door was open and the driver seemed apparently asleep, so Captain Rhodes started after the cab. Just as he approached the cab two shots blazed out, the driver simultaneously whipping up his team and driving out Kentucky avenue at full speed. Fortunately, Captain Rhodes was not in a line with the door and escaped the bullets.

ARRESTED FOR GAMING; ONLY WENT AFTER HORSE.
Three young gentlemen, employees of a local commission concern, walked innocently into Thompson's stable Sunday, while one of them got the horse and wagon, and within 15 minutes were at the central police station, charged with gaming. The police had a tip that a crap game was going on behind the stable among some colored men, and surrounded the place. The boys were caught in the stable and they were "taken" along. Fortunately, the whole crowd was dismissed, so they didn't have to explain much.

CLIMBS TILL THE ICE COVERS MOTOR

AVIATOR MOISANT HAS THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Ascended 9,264 Feet and Darkness Forces Him to Come Down.

FARMAN FLIES EIGHT HOURS.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 19.—Climbing 9,264 feet in the air John B. Moisant yesterday afternoon numb and cold from the frigid atmosphere of that great height, abandoned an attempt to break the world's altitude record only when with his motor covered with ice he was forced to descend on account of darkness.

Farman Makes Eight Hour Flight.
Etampes, France, Dec. 19.—Henry Farman, competing for the Michelin cup, made a remarkable flight of 8 hours and 13 minutes. Owing to the fierce north wind, his progress was slow. He covered only 463 kilometers (287 miles) against 465 kilometers made by Maurice Tabuteau on October 28. Tabuteau occupied six hours for his flight. The cup is awarded annually to the aviator making the longest sustained flight within the year. A premium of $4,000 goes to the winner.

White's Machine Wrecked.
Dover, England, Dec. 19.—Claude Grahame-White the aviator, had a narrow escape from serious injury today. His machine was wrecked and he was badly cut about the face. White was competing for the $20,000 offered by Baron de Forest for the longest flight across the English channel in 1910, the flight to be made by an Englishman in an English built machine. Grahame-White this morning ascended for a trial flight in a strong wind. His machine began to rock and turned over and plunged to feet to the ground. White was picked up unconscious. He says he will try again.

A second competitor, Bowth, left East Church, Sheppy Island, at 8:15 in the morning, arose from Dover and descended at Beaumont, Belgium, a distance of 174 miles. The time was just under 3 1/2 hours.

This is the first time a British-made aeroplane has crossed the channel. No tugs or other craft followed the aviator, and no other precautions were taken against accident.

Fresno, Cal., Dec. 18.—Hanging 4,000 feet in the air, while attempting to make an altitude record, J. C. Mars, the aviator this afternoon found that his engine refused to work. The cold was too great, and Mars was forced to make the longest spiral glide in his life.

Mars started down with a long spiral, half a mile in diameter, and alighted safely, but benumbed by the cold.

QUIETING EFFECT OF THE HOLIDAYS

FELT IN STOCK MARKET SAYS HENRY CLEWS.

Premontory Symptoms of Usual January Rise in Values Felt.

SOUTH IS STILL PROSPEROUS

New York, Dec. 19.—Approach of the holidays naturally has a quieting effect upon business. The financial outlook, however, though not entirely free of shadows, has its encouraging features. Chief of these is the ease in money. What with contraction of credit, retrenchment in expenditures, dullness of trade and lessened speculative activity, the supply of loanable funds is steadily accumulating, and unless business recovery develops after the new year, there will be a glut of idle money. This, however, is the usual swing of affairs following any period of extraordinary activity. It is also one of the most natural and efficient cures for business depression. As long as general conditions remain sound—and there is no reason to consider them otherwise—money will gradually come back into circulation, flowing through the arteries of commerce and performing its useful and beneficial function in restoring business activity. Low rates of interest indicate insufficient employment for money. Funds, however, will not long remain idle on low returns. If money will soon seek investment in high-grade securities. As the latter were the first to feel the depressing effects of high interest rates, they will also be the first to feel the stimulus of low interest rates. Already the bond market is beginning to show the effects of cheap money. There is a good investment demand for better class bonds, which today are selling down at a very attractive level. Before long many of these issues will be bringing much better figure, and will in all probability have been permanently retired into strong boxes. A number of new issues are pending, and the majority of those recently offered have been readily absorbed. Our railroads are still in need of new capital for the completion of pending improvements, and bond issues of short-term notes will probably be the most ready means of raising required capital. As to stocks, there are no indications of any important new issues. Many of the high-grade issues are selling upon a 6 per cent basis, and these, too, are likely to receive more serious attention from investors. December and January are always periods of heavy disbursements on dividends and interest account, aggregating this year, it is estimated, over $200,000,000. A goodly portion of this sum generally finds its way to Wall street for investment purposes, and in view of the greater inducements than usual, there should be no falling off in the demand from this quarter. This is the basis of the so-called January rise which occasionally materializes in December. We have already had a stronger market for several days, which has probably been the commencement of discounting this movement. What the effect of these conditions will be upon speculation remains to be seen. Easy money usually stimulates speculative activity, but leading bankers are known to be still in a very conservative frame of mind, and disposed to restrain undue speculative operations. The policy of slow and forced liquidation, which has been carried out for the last six months, has been undoubtedly beneficial. It has checked a pace that was altogether too rapid, and has facilitated the restoration of equilibrium which may pave the way for fresh activity later on.

Values Are Inflated.

The feeling is still abroad that values generally are upon an inflated basis. This may be true of commodities, but not of securities, which are now selling considerably below high levels. As to commodities, some reaction has already set in, particularly in food products; and the recession there must ultimately result in a partially reduced cost of living. As yet, however, these reductions have not reached the consumer, largely because middlemen are endeavoring to maintain their old scale of profits as long as possible. The most serious problem which producers have to face is the high cost elements. How this is to be reduced, is a problem yet to be solved. Some reduction may be had in raw materials, but this will not be sufficient, and cannot offset the greatly increased cost of wages and the advances in rents, taxes, etc. The best solution would appear to be in securing more efficiency in labor. Wages have risen, hours have been shortened and output restricted until these factors have been a very serious element in increased costs. Under present conditions it is almost impossible to ask labor to accept lower wages. Labor, however, can materially relieve the situation to its own advantage by encouraging a policy of greater efficiency and larger production. Labor is after all the chief consumer, and while insisting upon advanced wages, has been unconsciously diminishing the purchasing power of its wages and increasing its own cost of living.

General Business.

As the year draws to a close general business is quiet in nearly all departments. Fortunately there are no serious indications of unsound conditions. At the west some financial strain is reported, the lower prices for farm products having induced farmers to hold back supplies, but in this there is nothing serious. The south continues prosperous, owing to the large profits of cotton growing; and the country as a whole shows the activity and energy inevitable with a rapid-growing population, the east is still decidedly pessimistic, while the west maintains its characteristically optimistic attitude. The true course probably lies between the two extremes. Our iron trade, usually considered the best barometer, continues unduly depressed and is running only about half its capacity. This state of affairs is due to the inability of the railroads to raise funds. Should they succeed in placing contemplated issues, and should the interstate commission allow some reasonable advances, the prospects are that this situation will soon be relieved and that the railroads, the largest buyers of iron and steel, will once more place their orders for construction and equipment with customary freedom. If much longer delayed a rush of orders must follow, if only to fill the vacuum created by long postponement. The immediate outlook of the stock market is encouraging rather than otherwise. As for the more distant future, that can be more accurately gauged when we have fairly entered the new year.

RESIDENT TAFT DEPRECATES WAR TALK; BUT HE FAVORS MILITARY PREPAREDNESS

ADVOCATES INTERNATIONAL COURT OF ARBITRATION BEFORE CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON SATURDAY NIGHT.

Washington, Dec. 19.—President Taft, in addressing the closing banquet of the American Society of Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, declared that "there is no slightest reason for such a war because we are at peace with all the nations of the world, and are quite likely to remain so." He said his purpose in outlining the preparedness of the United States was "at a peace meeting" was to show by contrast the great worth of the movement of a permanent court of arbitration and justice and peace.

Would Improve Militia.
The president summarized the conclusion of the national defenses and declared that a policy of "wise military preparation" be pursued. He emphasized the fact that the American people never would consent to the maintenance of a standing army sufficient to cope with that of the great powers. He urged the retention of the present regular army, the improvement of the national militia, passing of the pending volunteer bill, and the passage of a law before congress for a force of national officers who will be "able to drill the militia of the country, and finally the accumulation of arms and ammunition "to equip and arm the force we could collect under our colors in an emergency."

For Arbitral Court.

President Taft asserted that the best method of ultimately securing disarmament among nations was the establishment of an international court and the development of a code of international equity.

Declaring the the country has not reached a point where war is impossible, he said:

"Take thus the question of the Panama canal. We have a property which when completed will be worth $400,000,000—at least it will have cost us that. It has been built not alone to further the cause of the world's commerce, but also to bring our eastern and western seabords closer together and to secure us the military benefit enabling our naval fleet to pass quickly from one ocean to the other. Now the works of the canal are of such a character that a warship might easily put the canal out of commission."

Would Fortify Canal.

"We are authorized to police the canal and protect it, and we have the treaty right to erect fortifications there. Fortifications are the best and most secure method of protecting that canal against the attack of some irresponsible nation or armed force."

"It is said that we would neutralize the canal and, by inducing all nations to agree not to attack the canal, secure its immunity from injury. But the trouble is that nations are quite as likely as men to violate their obligations under great stress like that of war."

"It seems to me that we ought to put ourselves in a position to reference to this very valuable and delicate piece of property, so that, should any nation forget its obligation, we will be in a position to prevent unlawful injury to this instrument of commerce so valuable to the world and so indispensable to us. The fact that we fortify the canal will not prevent us from discharging all international obligations that we may have in respect to it, but it will enable us to defend ourselves in its possession against the act of every irresponsible force or nation. It will not prevent our maintaining its neutrality if that is wise and right."

Coast Defense Excellent.

The president declared that the United States had excellent coast defenses for every important harbor that an enemy would enter. He summarized the preparedness of the country for war by saying:

"We probably ought to see to it that we have ammunition and guns enough for ready use in case of emergency. We have a small but very efficient army of 80,000 men. We have a militia of about 125,000 men. The army is so constituted that we could enlarge it from a skeleton organization into a much larger body. We ought to have more trained officers, so as to furnish the teachers to a larger body of men that war might require us to enlist."

"There has been a good deal of talk in the papers, and some reference in congress, to the supposed helpless condition of this country in the event of a foreign invasion. I venture to think that much more has been made of this than the facts, calmly considered, would justify."

"We have a very good navy, and with the opening of the Panama canal it will be a much more effective one. It would be useful to prevent the coming of an invading army across the seas."

Big Army Not Possible.

"The people of this country will never consent to the maintenance of a standing army which military experts will pronounce sufficiently large to cope in battle with the standing armies of the greater powers, should they get by our navy, avoid our harbor defenses and descend upon our coast. If this leaves us in a position of helplessness, then so be it. For those who understand the popular will in this country know that it cannot be other wise."

In depreciating the idea of a war scare, the president said that "a little more forethought, a little more attention to the matter on the part of congress, and we shall have all of the army, and all of the munitions and material of war, that we ought to have in a republic, situated, as we are, 3,000 miles on the one hand and 3,000 miles on the other, from the source of hostile invasion."

Army Expensive One.

"Our army is much more expensive per man than that of any other nation, and it is not an unmixed evil that it is so, because it necessarily restricts us to the maintenance of a force which is indispensable in the ordinary policing of this country and our dependencies, and furnishes an additional reason for our using every endeavor to maintain peace."

"I congratulate this association on the recent foundation of Mr. Carnegie by which under the guidance of Mr. Elihu Root, Mr. Knox and their assistants, an increase of $500,000 annually is to be expended in the practical promotion of movements to secure permanent peace."

Urges Arbitral Court.
Speaking of the achievements in the past of courts of arbitration, President Taft said:

"If now we can negotiate and put through a positive agreement with some great nation to abide the adjudication of an international arbitral court in every issue which cannot be settled by negotiations, no matter what it involves, whether honor, territory, or money, we shall have made a long step forward by demonstrating that it is possible to settle disputes between nations as between individuals by process of law."
